A: One issue with the solution that i find is that after a time, it fails in a loop. I have had no issues with this so far. Another issue is that the page flip did not play the beep correctly and i have found no solution for this. The final issue that i have come across is that i have a problem in my logic that might have caused this. When i found the boards in the past, i had taken the supply voltage and linked it to the ground. To solve this issue, i am now using a balanced voltage divider. I am still not sure if this is the issue but i will keep the question open for a while in case someone more in to electronics can show me something. Since the page flip plays a sound, i am not sure if this would be a valid solution but this should not be the only cause. uint8_t i = 0; TFT_CS = HIGH; // screen is off and the bit can be written static uint32_t step = 0; PORTB = 0x01; // PD5,0, delayMicroseconds(2000); while (i = POWER_OFF_TIME_MS) { if (step >= POWER_ON_TIME_MS) { // Turn on the display TFT_CS = HIGH; step = 0; } step += POWER_ON_TIME_MS; } else if (step >= POWER_ON_TIME_MS) { if (step >= POWER_OFF_TIME_MS) { 570a42141b
