What's New in the Jotex?

This is an easy way to convert a text document into an ebook format.The program allows you to generate an epub file from your OpenOffice document in just a few clicks. Although Jotex is simple to use, this tool has been designed with a lot of features.You can encrypt the text of your document, add a cover page with a custom background image, change the background color, orientation, and you can use the available fonts for the text.All these options are available by using the command line interface, but you will also have a web interface, allowing you to manage your EPUB document without any kind of download. The text file, images and logos included in the document can be encrypted or you can leave them in the original file. What's new in the new version of Jotex: Jotex 1.10- Added a new "fonts" subdirectory. You can now specify the folder where the fonts for the text will be stored. Jotex 1.9.7- Added a new option to "fill-color". By setting the value to 0, the background color will not be overwritten by the image specified in the file. Jotex 1.9.5- Added a new option for "background-color". You can now specify the color that will be used for the background image in the cover page. Jotex 1.9.4- Added a new option to the "fonts" subdirectory. You can now specify a single font or a group of fonts to be used in the text file. Jotex 1.9.2- The available options have been changed to use the Web of Science format. These new options are: - number of previous articles-keywords-number of authors-number of additional authors-year of publication-date of publication Jotex 1.9.1- New option for "font-size" that allows you to specify the size of the font in the text. You can now choose between 10, 11, 12, and 14. Jotex 1.9.0- New option for "fonts". If this is set to 1, the text will be automatically converted to Times new roman. Jotex 1.8.8- New option to "fonts" to indicate which fonts will be used in the text file.

You can now specify the name of the font or you can choose from the available ones. Jotex 1.8.7- New option to "fonts" to indicate the font color. By default, the white color will be used for the text. Jotex 1.8.6- New option to "fonts" to specify the font size. You can now choose between 10, 11, 12, and 14.
