As a result, personal information needs to be secured. In the mobile communications, call information or personal information such as personal identification information may be used as personal information. In the personal identification information, information such as telephone number, birth date, or fingerprint is used. If such information is used without enough security, another user may illegally use the personal information. For example, as a method for preventing the illegal use of personal information, a user is forced to register a telephone number of the user's own mobile phone with a mobile phone company. By use of a personal identification number associated with the telephone number registered, a call is made from the registered telephone number. In the same manner, there is proposed a system which allows a mobile phone to be used in the television having no telephone (patent reference 1). Further, there is proposed a method for preventing information leakage of a mobile phone by requiring a user to enter a password (personal identification number) before starting a program downloaded from a server (patent reference 2).Kroger Automated Fare Collection (AFC) Discounts Now Available We have excellent news. Kroger is now offering automated fare collection discounts for three codes you can use to reduce the cost of your ride. Depending on where you live, these can help you save as much as $3 on your total fare. If you are taking a bus (Staten Island and Brooklyn routes), it could save you up to $10. But, if you aren't a fan of public transit, you could save up to $4. If you are riding on a Metro-North or LIRR line, you are eligible for the discount. And, if you are taking the FLEX service, you may be eligible to get the discount too. The codes are: DLX-BUSH1 (staten island) DLX-BUSH2 (brooklyn) DLX-GORD
